

PUZZLE RUSH SCRIPT

Assigned ppl:

Vishal - Level 1 and 2

Jash - Level 3 and 4

Aaryan U - Level 5, 6 and choice page

Anish - Level 7 and 8(8.1, 8.2, 8.3 AND completion)

PROLOGUE

This is Agent C, reaching out from the depths of time. Our Temporal Protection Authority systems have been breached. It's a Code Red and the implications can be grave. All we have is the code u0054u0052u0024. Something- a mysterious existence- is meddling with the very fabric of time itself. This unknown force is weaving its own threads into the narrative, altering crucial junctures in history. The past, as you've known it... is fading... fading into obscurity before our very eyes.

LEVEL 2

We've unearthed a trail, a fragment of the enigma we seek. It points us towards a figure, a soft-physicist, delving into realms beyond human comprehension. Soft physics is a fusion of artificial intelligence and physics, promising to unveil the secrets of the universe. In his conquest to disrupt time, he left behind a cryptic note:

“Where Nile's embrace meets the builders' grace, ..--- ----- / -... -.-. .”

Now, the time machine awaits. Enter credentials cautiously. Choose wisely, for time itself hangs in the balance, awaiting your rescue...

LEVEL 3.1

Agent C:

Congratulations on completing the previous challenge! You've now been transported to the Pyramids of Giza. Now let me see the code which you cannot decipher.....[2 sec gap].

Hmm.. The code looks like some sort of language, and honestly at first, the characters look like random marks scribbles at first. I am unable to decipher this, but remember, keep your head calm whenever in panic, and your body hydrated whenever in the desert.....

[AFTER THIS WE ARE REDIRECTED TO LEVEL 3.1 PAGE]

LEVEL 3.2

Agent C:

As you've been told, the secret lies in glass one. This should be a piece of cake for you, keep in mind the code you've deciphered, and that a little inspection hurts no one.....

[AFTER THIS WE ARE REDIRECTED TO THE LEVEL 3.2 PAGE aka SHIFTING GLASSES PAGE]

LEVEL 4.1

Agent C: I knew you had it in you to solve moderately difficult problems! There's a USB underneath that first glass. Let's look at what it contains. [3 sec gap]

Well, it talks about an important event in French history, but the message is so jumbled it makes no sense. I'll suggest you to create a decoder of your own, as you cannot trust any outsider, and I'll tell you this, the first 26 numbers are special, and that life is but a loop of peace and pain.....

"Vwruqlqj ri Edvwlooh" - An important event in the French history"

LEVEL 4.2

Agent C: So it seems your next destination is France during the era of the Revolution.....[2-3 sec gap].

I've just received a message that an advanced futuristic bomb is being transported right beneath the Bastille prison where all the insurgents are supposed to gather for the French Revolution. If that bomb goes off, the course of history changes for France, and by butterfly effect, for the World. You have five minutes.....

[AFTER THIS YOU ARE REDIRECTED TO THE BOM- DEFUSE PAGE]

LEVEL 5

Agent C: Congratulations on completing yet another challenge! You may have saved Paris, but the hunt is far from over. Now that you have defused the explosive, please let me examine it more closely to find any clues. [3 seconds gap].

Hmm. I found this number written on the backside of the explosive, 64638336 74989 34448, and a message: 'Zivz 51, Mvezwz' .I cannot seem to make anything out of it. Are you able to? Reminds me of some random keys pressed on a 20th century device called a phone...

[AFTER THIS WE GO TO THE LEVEL PAGE WHERE THE HINTS AND TEXTAREA FOR SOLN IS GIVEN]

LEVEL 6

Agent C: You have managed to reach the correct destination, I see! The enemy is swift, but good job matching his pace and putting an end to all his evil deeds. We are getting closer and closer to putting an end to this mess once and for all.

Now the next challenge is in Area 51, Nevada. This year is 1968 CE, and the first microprocessor has just been processed from the remains of a UFO crash. Down the line, this groundbreaking discovery is going to bring wonders for mankind, but right now the discovery lies at the risk of being blown to smithereens. I sense that Andwyn has messed up with the controls and initiated a self-destruct sequence for the entire research base. He has also left behind a set of instructions to deactivate the timer. Before the timer goes out, I need you to comprehend the instructions and stop the self-destruct sequence. Be quick otherwise we may run out of time!

[AFTER THIS WE MOVE TO THE LEVEL 6 SOLUTION SCREEN]

LEVEL 7

Agent C: I am impressed you got that one! I don't think I would have been able to do such a fine job myself! We are nearly there. As you already know, the next challenge is in North Korea in 2030 CE. We have to move fast because I already sense the temporal continuum starting to unsettle yet again. [2-3 secs gap]

Andwyn has managed to put a 31st century invisible nano-particle shield around Kim Jong Un, the current leader of the nation, but we have to dismantle it and make sure that the assassination happens one way or another. The only possible way to undo the shield is to hack into its system and corrupt its programs.

[AFTER THIS WE MOVE TO THE LEVEL 7 SOLUTION SCREEN]

CHOICE PAGE

Andwyn: Oh, traveler! We met at last! The one who has been thwarting all my plans. If you managed to make it here, I presume you must know why I am on this quest. There's just something about love, and especially more so for scientists. Scientists are weird creatures... spending their entire lives chasing answers. I am sort of the same, because all I want is to meet the most special person to me once again. I am ready to do whatever it takes. You see, all my life I spent so much time in theory that people gave up on understanding and talking to me. I... never had anyone close I could share moments with... anyone who would bring me happiness... I was just alone. Every day left me with more loneliness, a constant growing void in my heart. The isolation hurt, and I nearly gave up on the world... before... before Gertrude came. She was the first person who treated me like a friend... and soon before we knew it we were married. I got to taste happiness like never before... thanks to the person of my dreams. Gertrude was just a phenomenal human being. You know, the day she died... the darkness returned. I lost my smile, my cheerfulness, I lost a piece of my being. She didn't deserve it. I wish it would have been me that day... I would have gladly died in her place. I cannot live with myself without seeing her one last time. I want to apologize, to feel her yet again, and I can do anything to achieve that.

Agent C: It's a Code Red! The timelines are nearly merged! I don't know how yet, because we successfully stopped Andwyn's plans, but they are very close to being merged and the situation is very critical. If you have reached 3170 CE and see the target, exterminate him on spot. I repeat, exterminate the target on the spot.

Andwyn: So it happened at last I see... You know another interesting fact about scientists, their foresight is insane. You can always be sure that a scientist has thought of what can go wrong a hundred times more than whatever goes right. I applied the same principle here. In Bastille, I had placed a miniature bomb within the outer bomb which was set to detonate ten minutes after the outer one was defused. Hence, I successfully ruined France. In Area 51, I had secretly planted an AI virus within the primitive computer systems which would anyways start the self-destruct sequence soon after you left, thinking you had successfully stopped it. This way no more microprocessors in the 20th century. North Korea was a bloody job, but yes, I killed the assassins there one by one ensuring there was no one who would kill Kim Jong Un in the first place. The nanoparticle shield was just a distraction and Kim Jong Un ended up surviving after all. So there you go, all my backups to ensure I disrupted the right moments in history.

That's the power of love, traveler. All this scheming wouldn't have been possible had my ambition to build the time machine to see Gertrude been weak. I am ready to sacrifice anything, whether it's two lives or two timelines, to see my dear wife once again. No one shall come in between, not even you.

CHOICE FOR THE FINAL LEVEL:

A] Side with Andwyn and help him see Gertrude one last time. This way you ensure the destruction of both timelines but you honor Andwyn's final wish of seeing his love.

B] Continue your mission at TPA by trying to stop Andwyn from destroying both timelines.

Press the key of your choice.

Choice A Page:

We see Andwyn in the background and this text is written.

Andwyn: So you chose love, traveler. I thank you. I knew it, I saw the good in you the moment I saw you. Now I will go and meet her. See her and talk to her for one last time before we fade away in this illusive reality of time and space and if you think you have committed a heinous crime then do remember that there are infinite timelines and 2 of them, they don't matter, because love is greater than anything else in this universe. I call it the 6th force of nature. Now I will take my leave and complete my final wish.

After this page we see both of them hugging in a lush green field and Agent C is talking to us.

Agent C:

Well..you allied with him. When I said it's Code Red I didn't mean the color of love. You have destroyed two timelines. Billions of people faded away just so one scientist could hug his wife. Well... this is a gray world and I do agree that love can make people do impossible things and that's what Andwyn did. That's what you did. But love also makes people blind. Andwyn was so obsessed about meeting his deceased wife that he sacrificed two timelines. Love made him so blind that he didn't figure out what would happen afterwards. He knew about the destruction of the timelines but he did not know that they would reset themselves. That's how it really works. How do I know this ? I am Andwyn. After I destroyed both the timelines, I sort of became a variant in the temporal continuum. The TPA recruited me and gave me the mission of successfully restoring those two timelines and repairing my mess. I am here to stop myself..so the universe has given you one more chance. So see you at the beginning....

[YOU ARE REDIRECTED TO LEVEL 1 PAGE]

Choice B Page (Essentially pre level 8.1)

Agent C:

Good Choice, my agent...uniting him with his wife would have ended the two timelines. Well, moving on, now we are in the year 3170 CE. The final showdown happens here. We need to make sure we get through this one safe and sound. Let me give you a bit of exposition of what Andwyn's plan might be.

In 3170 CE, after the fall of the UN, the Earth has a central mega-government called The Grand Central Super Secure Facility(GCSSF). The GCSSF is headquartered in Moscow, Russia, one of the safest places in the world. The GCSSF has a simple policy. The best way to discourage violence is by having control over the lives of the ones doing all the violence. What that means is that the GCSSF can kill any human as and when they like through a very effortless method. They have a vast data-base which has the data of every human being and as soon as someone's data is removed, the certain human being dies. This system makes for fair and swift executions and asserts much more authority compared to the weaker UN and hence the GCSSF has been adored by many countries and notable figures throughout history.

Now, coming back to the mission. I have transported you to two hours before Andwyn reaches here. I need you to infiltrate the GCSSF and set traps for Andwyn before he breaks in and hack into the database to remove his counterpart's data from this timeline. Beware, this part is critical and we have to succeed at all costs. If we fail, we not only let the Andwyn of this timeline die, but every person to ever exist in the two timelines. Now you will see a dial pad and you have to dial in the right password. Thank you.

LEVEL 8.2

Woah! You made it through the first barrier of the GCSSF! Congratulations. I actually think we can make it now. The next step is to deal with the pesky AI which they have guarding all their precious human life data. I managed to corrupt the majority of the AI but it poses one last challenge before it's total corruption.

We need to tie against it or win in a game of Connect Four. If we win we get +5 minutes of time to set traps otherwise if we tie we get no extra time but move on to the next level. The game has only one point and if either you or the AI manage to connect four dots horizontally/vertically/diagonally you win immediately... so beware, stay sharp and smart.

[AFTER THIS YOU ARE REDIRECTED TO THE LEVEL PAGE]

LEVEL 8.3

Nice! Your brilliant game has brought us very close to achieving what we intended to achieve ever since the beginning. The protection of these timelines. It's nearing the end now. Andwyn is almost a-comin'. The next challenge is the hardest of them all. Setting a trap on the human life database so that as soon as Andwyn tries to hack it he triggers the emergency system and soon the GCSSF military robots come in and exterminate him.

Mind you, this level will require a lot of hard work on your end, so be sure to keep a handy search software ready for finding answers.

[AFTER THIS YOU ARE REDIRECTED TO LEVEL 8.3 PAGE]

PRE SUCCESS PAGE

The Curator: Hello, TPA officer. This is the curator speaking here. Well, you don't know me, but I know you very well. I am the one who formed the TPA eons ago, at the dawn of all time. I know you expected to hear from Agent C now, but I hate to break it to you, he is dead, or rather non-existent. Agent C, or rather Andwyn which was his real name, was himself a variant tasked with cleaning up the mess he had once made by destroying two timelines in his mad pursuit of love. As soon as the two timelines were back up and running, he had no reason to exist out of the temporal continuum, and hence, after finally repairing his mess, has now moved on to the afterlife where he can spend time with his wife, I believe. His final words to me were that he enjoyed working with you and he is thankful for everything you had to do for him. Well, so am I... so am I...

[AFTER THIS YOU ARE REDIRECTED TO COMPLETION AND SUCCESS PAGE]

----- GAME OVER -----